Message from the Editors

Dear readers,

We hope you've been having a good summer this year, with life seeming to be returning to normal a bit in North America. As we're still not out of the woods yet completely, we hope you continue to be cautious as you resume life as we knew it before the pandemic. While the situation seems to improve a bit over here, we sure are concerned and saddened by how severely the pandemic is impacting Sri Lanka these days. It will be a while til most of us will get to visit our loved ones in Sri Lanka, or have them visit us over here.

In this issue, there is important news for our MGCAANA members who are undergraduate or graduate students in North America, who may be interested in applying for the MGCAANA Undergraduate & Graduate Scholarship Program for 2021-2022. If you know of any potential candidates, please share the news with them.

You will also find in this issue information on a free course by University of Alberta on "Indigenous Canada." This course explores from an Indigenous perspective, key issues facing Indigenous peoples today, from a historical and critical perspective. We hope you consider looking into this interesting and relevant course.

As usual, we have provided a delicious recipe for you in the Recipe Corner, we hope you try it out! For the Poetry Corner, we have a beautiful poem in English, sent to us by one of our members. You will certainly enjoy reading it, and perhaps this contribution will inspire you to contribute to the Maya Puwath newsletter too!

Last but not least, we also feature a Daily News article from July 2021 about the new Principal of Mahamaya Girls' College, Kandy, Mrs. Shashikala Senadheera. We've been hearing great things about her work already, and we wish Mrs. Senadheera all the best!

We hope you continue to stay safe and take good care, until we meet again in the fall.

Let me free

By Nilmini Dorabawila

Let me be the man I want to be Let me be the woman I yearn to be Let me go, let me grow
To be who and what I want to be

Please let me go, let me grow
This world is such an exciting place
Let me taste what is meant for me
Don't hold me down, I cannot breath and force what you want of me

Let me go please let me grow
I don't care if I fail you see
So many doors so many ways
If one closes there is another one you see
I know there is I feel it so I am not scared to fall again
You taught me well to find the light
And I will stand up tall again

The sun is so bright and so beautiful
And the rays will warm and give life
But the moon is so gentle and refreshing
The silvery light brightening my mood
The dark cloudy nights so peaceful and grey
Even the rain it makes me free

Thunder and lightning must come in my life
I am not scared it is but the natural side
A hail storm may follow and shatter the glass
But I know another day will not fail to dawn

Please let me go please let me grow
Don't try to always mattress my falls
Let me stand on my own
Let me reach for the stars or the moon
Let me understand that it is a flame
And will burn my hand not to do it again
Let me hold a knife and let me learn
The sharp edges can cut and sever the flesh
Let me learn to hold it right instead

Let me be lost on the way someplace
Watch from a distance how I find my way home
Let me take the wrong turn and trace back my steps
Let me find a better easier way back
home

Please I beg you please let me go
Let me free let me grow
Please trust in me I am your child
Let me go and learn to be free

Reaching the New Goal Set for Vidya Scholarship Trust Fund (VSTF)

The Vidya Scholarship Trust Fund (VSTF) set up by MGCAANA provides financial aid to financially-disadvantaged students at Mahamaya Girls' College. Scholarships from VSTF pay for educational expenses and/or boarding fees of students attending Mahamaya. "Vidya," a Sanskrit word, means knowledge or wisdom. Our initial goal was to raise at least $20,000. We reached this goal in 2019.

To continue this noble cause, a new goal was set to $30,000, and as of August 2021, $28,355 has been raised. We were able to donate 13 scholarships for the year 2020 despite Covid related obstacles and school closures.
